How to use this pack

This is a working document, not a book. You do not need to read it in order, and you do not need to finish it before you start. Open the section that matches the problem in front of you today.

> Two sections need your own information before this pack is fully useful: the your details worksheet on the next page, and the checklist at the back. Fill in the worksheet first — it takes about ten minutes, and everything else refers back to it.

What is in this pack

— A one-page proposal template

— A scope and pricing table

— A monthly client report template

— A handover document

— A follow-up sequence that closes

Who it is for

Freelancers, consultants and small studios who lose work to slow paperwork and cannot show clients what changed.

What this pack will not do

It will not do the work for you, and it does not guarantee a result. It gives you the structure, the words and the routine. The rest is you, doing it consistently for a few weeks. That is not a small thing — most people do not.

THE PROBLEM

Why this exists

The work is not the problem. The delay between the call and the proposal is.

Speed is a competitive advantage: the first clear proposal wins more often than the best one sent on Thursday.

PART 01

Why one page

A long proposal signals that you are negotiating with yourself. A one-page proposal signals that you know what the job is.

— If it cannot fit on one page, the scope is not decided yet.

— Five-day validity is not pressure — it is honesty about your calendar.

PART 02

The four documents you actually need

— Proposal — one page, six blocks, one price.

— Scope table — what is in, what is out, what it costs to add.

— Monthly report — what we did, what changed, what is next.

— Handover — what the client owns and how to use it.

SECTION A

Proposal blocks

Problem	In the client's words: 'You said people land on the site and do not message.' Then one line on why that happens.
Scope	A list of deliverables, each with a number: 5 pages, 1 form, 1 WhatsApp button, 1 training call.
Exclusions	Name them. Logo design, photography, paid ads, copy for more than 5 pages.
Price	One number. No tiers. No 'from'.
Timeline	Start date, milestone dates, delivery date, and what you need from them by when.
Terms	50% to start, 50% on delivery. Two revision rounds. Care begins month two. Price valid five working days.

SECTION B

Proposal language

Opening line	Here is what we discussed, what it costs, and when it will be done.
Scope sentence	For ₦[price] we will deliver [list]. Nothing outside this list is included.
Timeline sentence	We start on [date] once the deposit and your content are in. Delivery is [date].
Revision sentence	Two rounds of revisions are included. A third round, or a change of direction, is quoted separately.
Closing line	If this is right, reply 'approved' and I will send the invoice and the start date.

Declining politely	I do not think we are the right fit for this. [Reason in one line]. I would rather say so now than take your money.

SECTION C

Monthly report structure

Section 1 — What we did	Bullets. Specific. ‘Rebuilt the homepage hero, wrote 5 page descriptions, fixed 12 broken links.’
Section 2 — What changed	Numbers, honestly. If nothing changed, say so and say why.
Section 3 — What we learned	One insight from the data, in plain language.
Section 4 — What is next	Three items, with dates, and what you need from them.
Section 5 — What we need	‘Nothing this month’ is a valid answer.

SECTION D

Follow-up sequence

Day 2	Just checking the proposal reached you. Any questions on scope?
Day 4	One thing worth flagging: [specific detail]. It affects the timeline, so tell me if it changes anything.
Day 5	The quote holds until [date]. After that I will need to re-quote at the current rate.
Day 10	Closing the file for now. If the timing is wrong, say when to check back and I will diarise it.
When they say yes	Brilliant. Invoice attached, deposit due [date], and I need [list] from you by [date] to hold the start date.

YOUR DETAILS

The worksheet — fill this in first

Answer in the plainest words you have. Do not write what you think a business should sound like — write what you would say to a customer standing in front of you.

Business name and what you sell, in one line:

Who your best customer is (age, area, what they do):

The problem they come to you with, in their words:

What you do that a competitor does not:

Your price or price range:

Your delivery time or turnaround:

How a customer reaches you (number, handle, address):

The one thing you want this pack to fix first:

What you deliver, and in how many days:

Your payment terms:

DO THIS

The checklist

Work down the list in order. Tick as you go. If you only do the first three, you will still be ahead of most people who bought this.

Within 24h of the call	☐	Send the proposal. Speed beats polish.
Before sending	☐	Check: one price, one page, exclusions named, dates specific.
On approval	☐	Invoice same day. Diary the start date and every milestone.
Weekly	☐	Send a two-line progress note even when there is nothing to report.
On delivery	☐	Send the handover document with everything they own.
Day 7 after delivery	☐	Ask the proof question: what changed?
Day 14	☐	Ask for the next stage, if there is one.
Day 30	☐	Send the first report. Then every month, without being asked.

QUESTIONS

Five things people ask

Should I show price tiers?

No. Tiers invite a negotiation you did not plan. One price, clearly scoped.

What if they ask for a discount?

Give less, not cheaper: ‘I can do the five-page version for ₦[x].’

How long should a report be?

One page. If it is longer, they will not read it.

Do I need a contract?

A signed proposal with scope, price and terms is a workable start. For larger jobs, get it reviewed properly.

What if I miss a deadline?

Tell them before they notice, with a new date. Then do not miss the new date.

SUPPORT

If something is unclear

Message us on WhatsApp and ask. If a file will not open, or a page is missing, we replace it within seven days, no questions. That is the whole support promise — there is no upsell waiting at the end of it.
