Offer 01: The Chat-to-Customer Playbook

Keyword: PLAYBOOK · ₦5,000 · 4 files

O01_Post01_Tip

Someone asks “how much?” and you reply with a number. Then silence.

Try three parts instead:
1. The price
2. What it includes (one line)
3. A question that moves things forward

“The Ankara set is ₦18,000, tailored to your size, ready in 5 days. Would you like me to take your measurements today?”

A price on its own is a dead end. A price with a next step is a conversation.

The Chat-to-Customer Playbook has 36 scripts like this, plus a tracker. ₦5,000. Message PLAYBOOK on WhatsApp: 0905 069 0837.

New from Easywurld: The Chat-to-Customer Playbook.

Turn WhatsApp and DM enquiries into paid orders, with scripts, a tracker and a follow-up routine you can start today.

Who it is for: Small-business owners in Nigeria who sell by WhatsApp or Instagram DM: fashion, food, beauty, home services, resellers and service providers who answer enquiries themselves.

What you get: 4 files, Chat-to-Customer Playbook; 36-Script Message Library; Lead & Follow-Up Tracker; 7-Day Setup Checklist.

₦5,000. Digital download.

Straight answer: no playbook can promise sales.

What the Chat-to-Customer Playbook does: gives you a clear reply flow, 36 scripts and a tracker, so fewer enquiries are lost to slow replies or forgotten follow-ups.

It works on the enquiries you already get. Results depend on your product, your price and whether you use it.

₦5,000. Message PLAYBOOK on WhatsApp: 0905 069 0837.

O01_Post04_Tip

Most people who ask for a price are not saying no. They are busy.

A simple follow-up rhythm:
Day 1: “Just checking you got the details.”
Day 3: add one useful detail.
Day 7: a polite close, door open.

Three short messages. No pressure, no begging.

The Playbook gives you the exact wording and a tracker that tells you who to message today. ₦5,000. Message PLAYBOOK on WhatsApp: 0905 069 0837.

What is inside the The Chat-to-Customer Playbook, and what we estimate it would cost to produce.

- Chat-to-Customer Playbook: 2.5 hours x ₦5,000 = ₦12,500
- 36-Script Message Library: 2.5 hours x ₦5,000 = ₦12,500
- Lead & Follow-Up Tracker: 1.5 hours x ₦5,000 = ₦7,500
- 7-Day Setup Checklist: 0.5 hours x ₦5,000 = ₦2,500

Estimated replacement cost: ₦35,000. This is our estimate of the hours an independent professional might need to research, write and format each item at an assumed ₦5,000 an hour. It is not a previous selling price.

Your price: ₦5,000.

“Hi” is not a reply. Neither is “Yes available.”

A better first reply:
- Greet and use their name
- Answer the question they asked
- Ask one question to learn what they need

It takes ten seconds longer and makes you sound like a business people can trust.

The Chat-to-Customer Playbook includes greeting, price, delivery and payment scripts you can edit into your own voice. ₦5,000. Message PLAYBOOK on WhatsApp: 0905 069 0837.

O01_LinkedIn1 (text post)

Most small businesses in Nigeria do not lose sales on price. They lose them in the gap between “how much?” and the second reply.

A lot of selling happens in WhatsApp and Instagram DMs, and most of us handle it from memory. A quote goes out, the customer goes quiet, and the thread sinks under ten newer ones.

Three habits fix a surprising amount of this:
1. Reply with price, what it includes, and a next step.
2. Follow up on day 1, 3 and 7.
3. Write the follow-up date down.

I put these into a short playbook with 36 scripts and a tracker: the Chat-to-Customer Playbook, ₦5,000. It will not create enquiries or guarantee sales. It helps you handle the ones you already have.

If you sell by chat, message me and I will send details.

(text only)

O01_LinkedIn2 (text post)

A question for anyone who sells through WhatsApp: how many enquiries did you get last week, and how many did you follow up?

If you cannot answer quickly, you do not have a follow-up problem. You have a tracking problem.

A simple spreadsheet with a date and a status is enough to start. The one I use has a “follow up today” flag, so each morning I know who to message.

It is part of the Chat-to-Customer Playbook (₦5,000), together with 36 scripts and a 7-day setup checklist. No guarantees, just a clearer way to run the chat counter.

A homepage has about ten seconds to answer three questions: what do you do, who is it for, and what should I do next?

I keep seeing small business websites that answer none of them in the first screen. “Welcome to our website” and a photo of a handshake. The owner is proud of the business and the visitor leaves confused.

You can fix most of this with words, not a rebuild:
1. A headline that says what you do and for whom.
2. One supporting line.
3. One main button.

I packaged the method, templates, a content planner and a 20-point audit as the Clear Homepage Blueprint (~~₦~~5,000). It is DIY, with no promises on traffic or rankings.

Message CLEAR on WhatsApp for details.

(text only)

O02_LinkedIn2 (text post)

Try this today: open your homepage on your phone, without scrolling, and ask a friend to say what you sell.

If they cannot answer in a sentence, your customers cannot either.

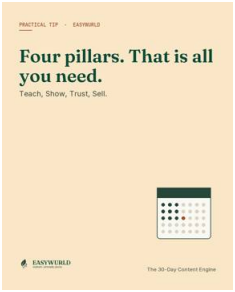

The fix is usually a clearer headline, one main button and honest proof. It does not need a new website.

The Clear Homepage Blueprint (~~₦~~5,000) has the headline templates, the 12 CTA options and the 20-point audit scorecard to do this yourself in an afternoon. No guarantees on enquiries, just clearer words.

Offer 03: The 30-Day Content Engine

Keyword: ENGINE · ₦5,000 · 4 files

O03_Post01_Tip

Running out of things to post?

Use four pillars:
- TEACH: tips, how-tos, myths
- SHOW: your work, process, behind the scenes
- TRUST: customer stories (real ones), values, FAQs
- SELL: offers, prices, how to order

Rotate them. About a third teaching, a quarter showing, the rest trust and selling.

Consistency is the hard part of content for a one-person business. Not ideas, not tools: consistency.

What has helped me is a simple structure:
- Four pillars: Teach, Show, Trust, Sell.
- One batching session a week.
- A 30-day calendar I can see.

When the calendar is full, there is no daily “what should I post?” moment.

I turned this into the 30-Day Content Engine (₦5,000): a guide, a 60-idea post bank, an auto-dated calendar and a swipe file with 25 hooks. It is a planning system, not finished posts, and it cannot promise reach.

Message ENGINE on WhatsApp if you want details.

O03_LinkedIn2 (text post)

A content calendar does not need software.

A spreadsheet with a date, a pillar, a format, a hook and a status is enough. The point is to decide in advance so that you stop deciding on the day.

The one I built fills in the dates from your start date, counts how balanced your pillars are and has a monthly review sheet. It is part of the 30-Day Content Engine, ₦5,000, along with a guide, 60 post ideas and a swipe file.

No promises about followers or reach. Just less last-minute stress.

Offer 04: The One-Offer Landing Page Kit

Keyword: PAGE · ₦5,000 · 4 files

O04_Post01_Tip

A homepage tries to say everything. A landing page says one thing to one person.

One offer. One audience. One action (WhatsApp, book, buy).

No menu, no distractions, no wandering.

The One-Offer Landing Page Kit gives you the structure, a fill-in copy template and an editable HTML page you can open today. ₦5,000. Message PAGE on WhatsApp: 0905 069 0837.

O04_Post02_Launch

New from Easywurld: The One-Offer Landing Page Kit.

Plan, write and launch a single-purpose page for one offer, with a fill-in copy document and an editable HTML page you can open today.

Who it is for: Small-business owners, event organisers, coaches, makers and service providers launching one product, workshop, service or campaign who need a page to send people to.

What you get: 4 files, One-Offer Landing Page Guide; Landing Page Copy Template with Worked Example; Editable Landing Page Starter (HTML); Pre-Launch Checklist.

₦5,000. Digital download.

Message PAGE on WhatsApp: 0905 069 0837

O04_Post03_Honest-answer

Not to get started. The HTML starter has comments on every section. You change the words, and change the colours in five lines.

To publish you need a host (several offer free plans) and, if you want your own address, a domain name. Those costs are yours.

If you are launching one thing, a workshop, a product, a booking, you probably do not need a website. You need a page.

A landing page is one offer, for one audience, with one action. It leaves out the menu, the history and the detours.

The structure is simple: headline, promise, who it is for, what you get, how it works, proof, price, FAQ, action.

I put this into the One-Offer Landing Page Kit (₦5,000): a guide, a copy template with a worked example, an editable HTML page and a 20-point checklist. It is do-it-yourself. It does not include building or hosting, and it cannot promise conversions.

Common landing page mistake: three different buttons, none of them clear.

Pick one action: WhatsApp, book or buy. Repeat it at the top, the middle and the bottom. Everything else is a distraction.

The HTML page in the One-Offer Landing Page Kit already has WhatsApp buttons in the right places and a five-line colour change, so you can start from something that works.

It is a starter page, not a custom site, and there is no payment processing. ₦5,000.

When someone in Lagos needs a tailor, a plumber or a caterer, many of them start by searching on their phone.

What they see first is often a map, a few businesses, some photos and some reviews. A complete, honest Google Business Profile is the cheapest way to show up well there.

The basics are not hard: correct category, hours, phone, services, real photos, and a habit of asking happy customers for reviews.

I wrote these into a 30-day plan, the Lagos Local Visibility Starter (₦5,000): guide, keyword worksheet, profile checklist with 12 review scripts and a tracker. No promises on ranking or traffic. It is a do-it-yourself starter.

A small habit with a big payoff for local businesses: ask every happy customer for a review, every time.

Not with gifts or discounts, which platforms discourage. Just a personal message, a link and a thank-you.

It will not guarantee ranking. It will give you a routine.

O06_LinkedIn1 (text post)

Most marketing problems in small businesses are message problems in disguise.

The website is fine, the posts go out, and customers still ask “so what exactly do you do?”

Before posting more, I would do three things:
1. Write one sentence: I help [who] get [what] by [how].
2. Talk to five real customers and note their words.
3. Put the result into one page: customer, message, channels, offers, 90-day priorities.

I built this into the Clear Message Workbook (~~₦~~5,000): workbook with a fictional worked example, a 15-question interview kit, a message bank with bios and pitches, and a one-page plan. It is self-guided, and it cannot promise leads.

Message MESSAGE on WhatsApp if you want it.

O06_LinkedIn2 (text post)

Here is a quick test for your bio.

Show it to someone who does not know you. Ask: “who do I help, and with what?”

If they cannot say, rewrite it. Name the person you serve and the outcome they get. Skip adjectives like “passionate” and “innovative”.

The Clear Message Workbook (~~₦~~5,000) includes bio templates for Instagram, LinkedIn, WhatsApp and your website, plus 10-, 30- and 60-second pitches.

Most small businesses I speak to are curious about AI tools and unsure how to use them safely.

Three rules I use:
1. Give the tool context: role, task, details, format and limits.
2. Never paste passwords, bank details or customers' private information.
3. Check every fact before anything goes out.

I collected this into the Everyday AI Prompt Desk (₦5,000): a prompting guide, 60 copy-paste prompts across seven categories, a template for a safe enquiry assistant and a 12-check review list.

It is not a chatbot or automation. It is a set of prompts and rules you use in the tool you choose. Results vary by tool.

The best use of AI I have seen in small businesses is boring: first drafts of replies, captions, quotes and summaries.

The safest use is also boring: a human reads every output before it is sent.

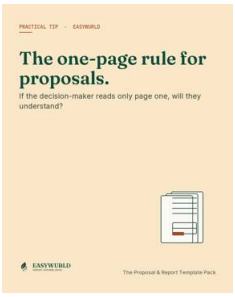

If you want a starting point, the Everyday AI Prompt Desk (₦5,000) has 60 prompts for content, customer replies, sales, documents, website and SEO, planning and team tasks, plus a safety checklist.

No promises about what it will do for your business. Just a safer and faster way to draft.

A proposal is not a longer quote. It is a short argument: here is your problem, here is my plan, here is the price, here is how we start.

I keep a few rules:
1. Page one holds the summary, price, date and next step.
2. Scope says what is included and what is not.
3. Price comes as options when possible.
4. I follow up on day 2, 5 and 10.

I built these into the Proposal & Report Template Pack (₦5,000): a guide, a proposal template with a fictional worked example, report and summary templates, and a quote and invoice workbook with an editable tax rate.

The templates are not legal contracts, and nothing guarantees a client says yes.

If you send quotes as WhatsApp text or a hastily edited Word file, you are probably spending too long on them.

A reusable quote and invoice sheet with automatic totals, a tax-rate cell and a client log saves time and makes you look more organised.

That is one of four files in the Proposal & Report Template Pack (₦5,000). The others are a guide, a proposal template with an example, and report and summary templates.

It works in Excel or Google Sheets. Confirm which tax rules apply to you.

A clear brief covers:
- Goal of the site
- Who it is for
- Pages needed
- Content you have
- Features you need
- Budget range

Designers can then quote the same job and you can compare.

The Website Launch & Care Handbook includes a fill-in planning brief. ₦5,000. Message LAUNCH on WhatsApp: 0905 069 0837.

O09_Post08_Honest-answer

No. The Website Launch & Care Handbook does not include hosting, a domain or a website builder.

It helps you understand what to buy, who should own it and what it should cost to check. Prices and plans change, so check current terms.

Voiceover script (25 seconds, warm, calm, human pace):
Here is a common problem. A web designer registers your domain in their name. Later, you cannot move it, or renew it. Before you pay anyone, make sure the domain is registered to you, with your email, and that you hold the logins. The Website Launch and Care Handbook explains ownership and more. Five thousand naira. The most expensive website mistakes I see are not design mistakes. They are ownership mistakes.

The domain is in the developer's name. Nobody knows where the hosting login is. A renewal date passes and the site goes offline.

Three habits prevent most of this:
1. Register the domain in your own name and email.
2. Keep an inventory of accounts and renewal dates.
3. Check the site for 30 minutes a month.

I put these and more into the Website Launch & Care Handbook (₦5,000): the handbook, a planning brief, a launch, care and accounts workbook, and a hiring guide with 25 questions.

It does not build, host or maintain a site, and it is not legal advice.

Message LAUNCH on WhatsApp for details.

If you are about to hire a web designer, ask these before you pay:
- Who will own the domain, hosting and files?
- What exactly is included, and for how long?
- What happens after launch?
- Can I have a written quote with stages?

The answers will tell you more than a portfolio will.

The Website Launch & Care Handbook (₦5,000) has 25 questions, red flags to watch for and a table to compare three quotes, plus a planning brief and a launch tracker.

It is a guide, not a build service.
